

ColdFusion 10 has been released

Posted At : May 15, 2012 8:07 AM | Posted By : Ted

Related Categories: ColdFusion, web development

Adobe has just release ColdFusion 10. Looks like the price tag has increased slightly, but I think it is still a great deal.

I have played with the ColdFusion 10 beta for a few months and really like a lot of the improvements. Perhaps the biggest under-the-hood change is that it now runs atop of Tomcat instead of JRun. There is a whole host of new and improved features including the new hotfix installer that is built into the administrator tool.

Check it out:

- <http://www.adobe.com/products/coldfusion-family.html>
- CF 10 Enterprise Features